

Seriously and terminally ill children enjoy a special pre-release screening of Night At The Museum

Starlight Children's Foundation, the national charity that provides entertainment for children in hospices and hospices all over the country was able to take a group of seriously and terminally ill children to an exclusive and pre-release screening of NIGHT AT THE MUSEUM: SECRET OF THE TOMB.

NIGHT AT THE MUSEUM: SECRET OF THE TOMB is the third and final instalment directed by Shawn Levy starring Ben Stiller, Robin Williams, Owen Wilson, Dan Stevens, Sir Ben Kinglsey, Ricky Gervais, Steve Coogan and Rebel Wilson

The audience enjoyed the wildest and most adventure filled Night at the Museum ever as Larry (Ben Stiller) leaves New York City for London, uniting favourite and new characters while embarking on an epic quest to save the magic before it is gone forever.

The screening, which was held on Wednesday 17th December, was hosted by Twentieth Century Fox and Starlight for the children at a private cinema in central London, just two days before the film's release. The chance to have a sneak preview of this major new blockbuster was very exciting for the young guests and their families.

The children and their families adored the film and it was very exciting for them to see the latest movie release before any of their friends. After the screening, the families were treated to a wonderful lunch courtesy of Soho Joe's pizza restaurant in Soho, which gave them a chance to share their favourite bits of the film.

Starlight provides entertainment in hospitals and hospices across the UK and grants wishes for children with serious and terminal illnesses. This exclusive screening of NIGHT AT THE MUSEUM: SECRET OF THE TOMB was just one of the many ways that Starlight will be bringing festive fun and laughter to seriously and terminally ill children this Christmas.

Sue Wildman, Head of children's Services at Starlight said: "This special screening of NIGHT AT THE MUSEUM: SECRET OF THE TOMB is a wonderful way for children undergoing treatment for a serious or terminal illness to have some much needed fun time with their families during the festive season. We are very grateful to Twentieth Century Fox for supporting Starlight and hosting the screening."
